

A portrait of Mr. Aaron Kirunda, a smiling Black man with a short beard, wearing a blue and white checkered button-down shirt. He is positioned in the center of the frame, with a bookshelf and a white cup of pens visible in the background. The image is partially overlaid by a teal geometric shape on the left and a teal triangle on the top right.

BUILDING FOUNDATIONS FOR YOUNG AFRICAN CHILDREN TO FLOURISH

Mr. Aaron Kirunda is the founder and CEO of Enjuba, a children's education organization focused on improving literacy, numeracy and self-regulation in African children through early childhood programs. He will join us to discuss his work and share ideas for potential partnerships to continue advancing literacy efforts in Uganda.

DATE: Friday, September 26th
TIME: Noon | LOCATION: LSC 1100

For all SEHD faculty, doctoral students and staff. Will gain valuable insights into global opportunities for collaboration.

REGISTER NOW!

School of Education & Human Development
UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO DENVER