PRACTICAL, ETHICAL AI FOR TEACHER EDUCATORS

AI is rapidly reshaping teaching, learning, and educator preparation. Join Dr. Abi Paytoe Gbayee of the University of Nothern Colorado for a research-informed, practice-centered session designed for educator preparation contexts.

You will explore AI use in coursework and assessment, practical strategies for addressing bias and verifying AI-generated information, and how AI can reduce administrative workload while preserving professional judgment and academic integrity.

By the end of this session participants will be able to:

Apply a continuum to set clear expectations for AI use in coursework and assessment

Use simple routines to check for bias, accuracy, and hallucinated citations

Identify low-risk, high-value use cases that support teaching without outsourcing thinking
